When I took office nearly three and half years ago, this city's finances were in tatters as was our credit rating. We were facing a $200 million deficit. We couldn't bond. We couldn't fix our roads, our storm drains, our sidewalks. But the City Council and Mayor Sanders worked together to fix problems more than three decades in the making. Together we were able to clean up our books, cut our costs and start moving forward.

Because of that, the city is now able to begin to tackle years of deferred street repairs. In fact, we are in the midst of the largest street resurfacing project in the city's history. In the past two years, the city has resurfaced more roads than in the eight previous years combined.

You've probably already noticed the recent resurfacing on Regents Road. The good news is that more resurfacing projects are on the way. Some of the streets to be resurfaced in University City in the upcoming year include:

- Governor Drive
(from the I-805 to Genesee Avenue)
- Genesee Avenue
(from Governor Drive to Executive Drive)
- Regents Road on the northbound side
(from Pennant Drive and Governor Drive)

In addition, Regents Road between Pennant Drive and Clairemont Drive will be resurfaced as a part of a water main project that begins in June 2013. If you have additional streets you'd like to have added to the resurfacing list, or see potholes that need filling, please contact me either by email at sherrilightner@sandiego.gov or by phone at (619) 236-6611.

Make no mistake: There is still plenty more to do to improve our roads and our infrastructure. But by working together, this city is finally on the right course.

Summer Scene in University City

by Sandy Lippe

• Ellie Vandiver, named teacher of the year in San Diego City Schools, is a biomedical instructor at UCHS and a UC resident. Ellie will go on to compete at the next level in October. Her star is rising, and UCCA salutes her as well as her talented sister, Brook Feerick, a busy UC volunteer in her spare time away from family and career demands...

• Brook and EdUCate! will provide a fun day in October at Standley Park with Oktoberfest. Save the date, Saturday, October 6th, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. and remember this: All proceeds from the Oktoberfest go to local schools in UC...

• For the hardworking volunteers who coordinate and deliver the UCCA newsletters each month, please save the date, Sunday, August 5th, for a party in your honor. It will be preceding the concert featuring another volunteer, Greg Zinser and his band: Relatives, Minors and Friends, a classic rock band. Invitations will be sent out in July. UCCA newsletter deliverers love their jobs and there is always a need for more folks who enjoy being outdoors, walking in their neighborhood, and doing good for the community by serving as a distribution point at their homes. Contact Barry Bernstein if you would like to be a sub, be a regular, a coordinator, or are just curious about the chance to help: apdrfn@aol.com...

• Helen Lebowitz, president of Friends of the Library in South UC, reported an incredibly generous donation of scholarly books, a huge number, donated by another UC local's family after the untimely death of their father. It is the policy of Friends of the Library not to publicly advertise this type of donation, but this gift will keep on giving...

• Officer Omar Sinclair has replaced longtime community policeman Alan Alvarez after Alan became an acting sergeant. We wish Alan well and welcome Officer Sinclair who is here to help us. He can be reached at 619-756-2419 or osinclair@pd.sandiego.gov. If you have a non-emergency concern, call 619-531-2000. If it is an emergency, then dial 911. Officer Sinclair's philosophy is that of all who protect us: "If you see something, say something."...

• UCCA new banners from the San Diego County Fair in Del Mar feature local scientists at UCSD and future scientists from UCHS. The regular banners are sponsored with a generous gift from Scripps Healthcare...

Happy summer from your community association. "Get involved. The world is run by those who show up."

University City High School Hall of Fame

by Ernie Smith

Last November a group of Centurion faithful announced in the University City Community Association newsletter that work had begun to create a University City High School Hall of Fame (HOF). This group has been working to formally honor some very special UCHS graduates and to recognize their successes. HOF inductees will be honored for their performance in a wide variety of areas: science, philanthropy, military, fine arts, engineering, education, business, athletics and others. Generally, a UC High grad who through deed or accomplishment has demonstrated extraordinary excellence in his/her field at a national or international level, will be considered for induction into the HOF. Our mission is to HONOR OUR OWN. We will honor Centurions who through deed or accomplishment have impacted the nation or the world. This will PRESERVE OUR LEGACY and highlight the UC High Legacy of Excellence and INSPIRE THE YOUNG by informing and inspiring current and future Centurions

In time the HOF will exist in three different formats: permanent, portable and digitally on the internet. The permanent HOF will be located at UCHS in the media center as a daily reminder of the excellence nurtured on this very campus. The portable format, which will be completed by the fall of 2012, will be easily transportable and available for use at our five community schools, the UC library, the 4th of July Celebration, the UC Oktoberfest, Taste of the Triangle, etc.

The digital format will contain more information about the inductees and be available to anyone who is interested worldwide, through the UCHS school web site. Thanks to the generous support of the University City Community Association and the University City High School Centurion Foundation, work on the first stage of our project is well on its way. The portable HOF will be completed on schedule and will be unveiled in a formal ceremony this fall. Our ceremony will be part of the official dedication of the newly upgraded, state-of-the-art UC High Football Stadium.

Meeting members' needs has remained a priority throughout the years. For California Coast, listening to members and looking for ways to meet their needs is an ongoing commitment. "When people see your best interest with our logo we want them to know that serving our members' best interest is a commitment that we strive for in all we do. We listen to our members and constantly look for ways to help them achieve their personal financial goals," states Maria Shepard, president/CEO of California Coast Credit Union.

UC Neighbors Meet to Discuss Drug and Alcohol Addiction Facilities

by Stefanie Von Borstel

On June 13th, more than two hundred neighbors concerned about the proliferation of Drug and Alcohol Addiction Treatment Facilities in UC gathered for a meeting at the UCUC Church. Concerned UC neighbors (called ProtectUC) living close to Practical Recovery locations gave an informative overview and spoke about their public safety concerns of facilities that perform detox and other addiction treatments within residential communities. The neighbors stressed that they did not oppose individuals seeking help to recover from addiction. The focus of the meeting was opposing the clustering of addiction treatment businesses inside of residential areas, and providing protection for the UC community including background checks, notifications to neighborhoods, and adherence to laws such as Megan's Law and Jessica's Law. Practical Recovery does not conduct background checks and has not alerted neighbors about their facilities operating in west end UC.

The devastating effects on the character of residential communities by the clustering of addiction treatment businesses has already been demonstrated in places like Newport Beach. City Councilmember Sherri Lightner reported on her ongoing research of Newport and other coastal communities that are also trying to stop the clustering of similar facilities in their neighborhoods. Representatives from Assemblyman Nathan Fletcher's office and State Senator Chris Kehoe's office stressed the importance of reporting any issues or complaints to the Department of Alcohol and Drug Programs and the State of California Health Services. Neighbors can also contact Practical Recovery directly to voice concern.

Officer Omar Sinclair stated it is illegal for drug and alcohol addiction clients to be in the neighborhood or public places while under the influence. He reminded neighbors to report any suspicious activity. Dial 911 for an emergency and 619-531-2000 for non-emergency calls.

Neighbors have donated a website that includes general information, links to file complaints, sample letters, and a Petition to sign. For more information,

Panel members Councilwoman Sherri Lightner; Erik Caldwell, Chief of Staff for Assemblyman Nathan Fletcher; Laura Hein, representing State Senator Christine Kehoe

An overflow crowd filled the pews of University City United Church of Christ to learn more about Recovery Homes in UC.

Adrienne Bledsoe, Protect UC panelist, explains the need for community involvement to U.C. resident.

UNIVERSITY CITY + COLDWELL BANKER AGENTS = BACKPACKS FOR KIDS!

by June Kubli

Sunday, August 5th, between 3:00 and 7:00 p.m., the local Coldwell Banker real estate agents will be collecting backpacks, school supplies, packaged socks and underwear to give to the children served by the Office of Children and Youth in Transition, San Diego Unified School District. In speaking with Susan Kellett from the Office of Children and Youth in Transition, she said "Our homeless count in our district swelled to almost 5000 this school year. You will help put smiles on a lot of faces. Thanks!"

That Sunday there will be a truck parked at Standley Park between 3:00-7:00 p.m. in which you may donate school supplies for these children in need. So do plan to purchase a backpack, a packet of paper, pencils, socks or other school supplies, drop it by the truck and then stay to enjoy the summer concert featuring the local band, "Relatives, Minors and Friends". For more information contact your local Coldwell Banker agent or call 858-453-6443(HOME).

The three Governor Drive medians should be a welcome change to the neighborhood. As the small plants grow and fill in the medians, the drivers will hopefully slow down to look and enjoy Mother Nature and the new landscaping.

Jim Horacek from the

Armstrong Garden Center

August 12, next Coffee in the Garden event!

We visited a very tranquil patio and garden at Glenda's for our June Coffee in the Garden; her low maintenance, drought tolerant plants give new hope to those of us who say we can't make a beautiful garden retreat without many hours of constant work and much water. The unique metalwork birds topped off this haven of kangaroo paws, Mexican sage, aloe, proteas among others in this newly redone yard and patio. The high hillside provides much privacy but failed to deter the surprise guest (a wandering Labrador retriever) from joining us. Thank you, Glenda, for sharing your home and garden.
